

The former editor of BBC Television's flagship documentary Inside Story, Olivia Lichtenstein currently works as a freelance producer, director and journalist. She is in her early forties and lives in Acton, London.

Fiction Cased/Trade paperback (export only)
 February £9.99/£10.99 320pp
 216 x 135mm/234 x 156mm
 978 0 75287 629 0/978 0 75288 645 9
 Markets: World XUSA
 USA & Translation: Gillon Aitken Associates
 Serial: Orion

Olivia Lichtenstein

Mrs Zhivago of Queen's Park

A sharp, funny and deliciously entertaining take on adultery

Chloe Zhivago is a successful London psychotherapist in her early forties. She's also a wife and a mother to two adolescent children. Is there any woman of Chloe's age who hasn't asked herself: Is this ALL there is? So when Chloe meets a deeply romantic and undeniably sexy Russian called Ivan, how tempting it is to have a little flirtation, a little adventure...Dotted with recipes such as 'Mutton Dressed as Lamb' and 'Recipe for Trouble', Mrs Zhivago of Queen's Park is a wonderful mixture of head and heart, intelligence, humour and poignancy.

*Recipe for Trouble: 1 part sexually neglected married woman, 1 part dissatisfied, questing, exotic man, 2 parts need of adventure, 1 dash all done up and out on their own, 3 drops beady scent of desire, Mix together and wait for results...
 (Stand well back as can sometimes explode)*